

Licenciado en Veterinaria por la Universidad Complutense de Madrid. Especialista Europeo (Diplomado Europeo ECVS) y británico en Cirugía de Pequeños Animales. Acreditado por AVEPA en traumatología/ortopedia y en cirugía de tejidos blandos. Doctor por la Universidad Complutense de Madrid. Editor asociado de la revista BMC Veterinary Research. Autor de artículos científicos en revistas nacionales e internacionales. Colabora de forma habitual en cursos de formación a nivel nacional e internacional, tales como AOVet e Improve International.

Ha trabajado como especialista en cirugía en varios hospitales de referencia del Reino Unido y España, y ha sido Profesor Asociado (Lecturer) en Cirugía en la Universidad de Glasgow, Profesor Titular (Senior Lecturer) y Jefe del Servicio de Traumatología de la Universidad de Liverpool.

Actualmente ocupa el puesto de director clínico y cirujano de referencia del Hospital Veterios de Madrid.

Holds a degree in Veterinary Medicine from the Complutense University of Madrid. He is a European Specialist (ECVS Diplomate) and British Specialist in Small Animal Surgery.

He is accredited by AVEPA in traumatology/orthopedics and soft tissue surgery. He also holds a PhD from the Complutense University of Madrid.

He is associate editor of the journal BMC Veterinary Research and author of scientific articles published in national and international journals. Collaborates regularly participates in national and international training courses, such as those of AOVet and Improve International.

He has also worked as a surgical specialist in several referral hospitals in the UK and Spain, and has been a lecturer in Surgery at the University of Glasgow, Senior Lecturer and Head of the Trauma Service at the University of Liverpool.

He is currently clinical director and referral surgeon at the Veterios Hospital in Madrid.